1. Initial Greetings

1.1. Greetings from the FIJLKAM Italian Karate Federation President

It is a pleasure for me and for the Federation I am honored to chair to greet all the athletes of the “Karate 1 Youth League”, which from 14 to 16 December 2018 will live up Caorle, one of the most beautiful historical seafaring villages of Italy.

Veneto region, with its enchanting Venice and particularly with the city of Caorle, has always been a land of sports and hospitality, as the great number of previous events, within the famous Venice Cup, can demonstrate.

The news represented by the “Karate 1 Youth League” is big. The aim is to involve young athletes in the scenery of international high- level competitions. That means building a bridge towards the future of this beautiful sport, which in Tokyo 2020 will wear for the first time the Olympic uniform. Our young karate competitors start today thanks to this event their way to the high technical level, and I am sure that this will be an important stepping-stone for their future.

I would like to thank all the people who worked hard for making alive this prestigious sport event: in particular the athletes, the instructors, the various associations and the families. But I would also like to thank the audience that constantly support and take part in this important event.

We must not forget to acknowledge who works behind the scenes, the Organizing Committee, the President Vladi Vardiero, the Multisport Veneto Association, who worked with passion and dedication in order to organize this project.

I also thank the city Council of Caorle, special guest of these Karate events since ever, for its kindness and collaboration.

I wish you all to enjoy this prestigious sport event, therefore “Karate I Caorle Youth League” will surely be a special occasion to honor and strengthen this beautiful sport in Italy and throughout the world.

Domenico Falcone

1.2. Greetings from the member WKF executive committee

Let me express as Honorary President of the WKF Youth League of Caorle (Venice) my warmest welcome to those who have the opportunity to participate in this 1st edition.

The WKF Youth League is a new WKF circuit dedicated to the youngest and Italy has the honor of inaugurate it and organize its 4 World stage.

After the successful globalization of the last 26 editions, the Venice Cup is transformed into WKF Youth League, to offer the young athletes a very high level competition in preparation for the next important international official competitions under the WKF and EKF flag.

An appointment that many Italian, foreign Clubs, National teams around the globe are waiting impatiently, sure to find a location and an organization worthy of the most important WKF competitions.

Italy and Fijlkam are once again in the forefront for the organization of a World event under the official WKF flag, a project started many years ago, under the guidance of Maestro Vardiero and his competent Staff that now reaches i the great WKF World.

I am proud to have contributed in my small way to achieving a goal that, although difficult, has always seemed to us possible.

TIKIL

This is Karate I like !!!

Davide Benetello

WKF Executive Committee

Fijlkam National Council Board

1.3. Greetings from the President of the Organizing Committee

As President of the Organizing Committee, I am really delighted to entirely dedicate myself in this 27th edition of the Venice Cup which will present you a lot of news!

During the 25th edition of the Venice Cup in 2016, we celebrated the admission of Karate in the Olympic Games of Tokyo 2020 with the President of the WKF Antonio Espinos, who has always supported us during these difficult years. In the course of a quarter of a century, our competition has been given a small but important contribution to the realization of this goal. In that occasion we announced the creation of a new project, whose purpose was give the young athletes, the future Olympics, the opportunity to confront each other in a high-level WKF circuit.

And that is how we proposed to create a series of international events dedicated to young categories. Thanks to the tireless support of Davide Benetello, member of the WKF's Executive Committee, and to the farsightedness of Mr. Domenico Falcone, President of the Italian Judo Wrestling Karate Federation, it has been possible to present our project to the World Karate Federation, which has accepted the challenge with enthusiasm and promoted the Youth Premiere League for 2018!

4 international appointments: the first one in Sofia, Bulgaria; then in Umag, Croatia; the third one in Cancun, Mexico; and finally in Caorle, Italy. 4 chances for our young athletes to confront each other and gain experience in the international tatamis!

I cannot forget to thank Senator Claudio Barbaro, ASI (Italian Sporting Associations) President who has always believed in us, all the Staff of Asi Karate Veneto and Families of our Athletes, who once again will make possible the realization of this important event with their hard work .

Finally a special thank to my son, Alberto, who has given a new wave of enthusiasm and was able to take the baton as years ago I personally did with my father, Lino Vardiero, the real founder of our partnership.

I wish you all to live in Caorle a great celebration of Karate and Sport, in the name of Respect and Tradition... two values that have always distinguished us.

This is the kind of Sport we want!

Vladi Vardiero

2. Introduction

The Karate 1 – Youth League is a newly created competition conceived to highlight the impact of Karate in young ages.

Established under the umbrella of Karate 1, and designed to complete Karate 1-Premier League and Karate 1-Series A, the Karate 1-Youth League aims at becoming a platform for the development of youngsters in their quest to progress in the sport.

The new competition was devised to respond to the increasing interest of young competitors to have more options to compete at the highest level and it puts the focus on karatekas aged 12 to 17.

The number of competitors is open. All members of WKF are admitted to participate.

The WKF competition Rules in force will be applied.

2.1. WKF Approved Items

CAORLE CITY OF SPORT

Caorle promotes itself as a “City of Sport” for its remarkable sport facilities, among which the new sports hall “Palamare” the municipal stadium with renovated floortene tracks, the spacious “PalaExpomar” and several other facilities such as gyms, swimming pools, and a prestigious golf course, all backed up by optimal tourist reception facilities.

In recent years Caorle has hosted many international sporting events, such as; two editions of the Giochi del Veneto (Venetian Games); the Alps-Adriatic Youth Summer Games; the World and European Kick Boxing Championships; the pre-agonistic training of the Italian National Bobsled Team, of the Italian National Cadets and Juniors Basketball teams, and many other important events, including those for disabled athletes. The Sports Hall is a multi-use sports center that can host international meetings in various disciplines such as: basketball, volleyball, handball, indoor football and Karate.

The hall is equipped with the best facilities to suit various sports, indeed it is one of the most modern sports halls in Veneto, highly regarded by sport federations for their national meetings.

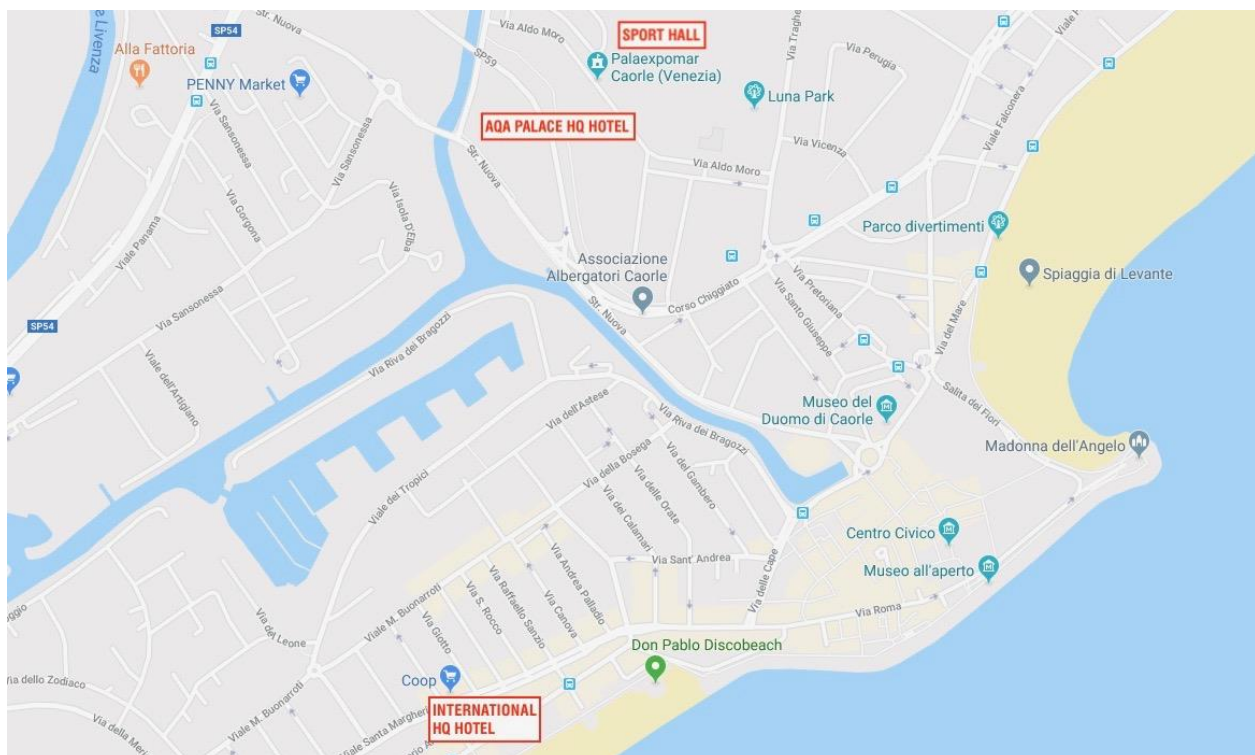

It can accommodate 2500 people, on four terraces and two telescopic platforms, complete with seats and furnishing.

The 1600 sq. mt. arena can host even the most demanding events.

It has 4 dressing rooms for athletes, a referee dressing room and a medical room.

The structure can also host other types of events, such as concerts, theater performances, trade fairs and congresses.

20. City of Caorle

The historical roots of the town of Caorle, date back to the 1st century B.C. The name is derived from the latin “Caprulae”, possibly because of the wild goats grazing in the area. This is confirmed by numerous Roman archeological findings, such as the “Ara Licovia”, a sacrificial altar, now found in the town cathedral and other discoveries under the sea.

It became important as a seaport for the town of Concordia Sagittaria, strategically placed at the mouth of the river Lemene; the town grew especially after the Huns barbaric invasions that drove many people from Concordia to the coast. It was at that time, around the 6th century, that Caorle became the seat of a bishop.

The erection of the present cathedral began however in the 11th century, over the remains of an early Christian basilica, parts of which are still housed inside the church, in the museum and in the gardens.

In the following centuries Caorle’s history was tied to that of the Serenissima Republic. The town was part of the “Dogado”, the metropolitan area of the territories of Venice, as well as the original nucleus of the Serenissima Republic; and it was one of the 9 districts in which the administration was divided, governed by a Podestà (ancient term for mayor).

It was also one of the 10 regiments of the Dogado.

A memorable event occurred in the tenth century, when some Venetian maidens were abducted and later freed on the beaches of Caorle. This event was the theme of an historical re-enactment up to a few years ago.

During the 13th and 14th centuries, because of the frequent invasions by Trieste and pirates, many families were forced to move to Venice. Thus began the downfall of Caorle that continued to lose importance, compared to the other cities of the Dogado, until the Napoleonic times.

This isolation became even worse when in 1379 Genoa landed on the island of Caorle and while trying to conquer the territory of the Serenissima ravaged the city, forcing even the bishops out of the town.

In the 17th century Caorle’s only outlet were its waterway links with Concordia and Portogruaro; at the time the Republic was coming to an end at the hands of Napoleon. The water privileges that had sustained the city ceased. It was the beginning of a long period of foreign domination.

In the 19th century Caorle was acquired by Austria with the rest of Veneto. The town, whose wealth was based on fishing, lost all importance. It is only in the 1970s that Caorle started flourishing again, when its economy started gearing toward the tourism market.

In 1818 the diocese was suppressed and the town annexed to the Patriarchate of Venice. Many of the religious folk traditions that had once characterized the island’s life were lost in the process.

An interesting aspect of the town is its Cathedral, built in 1038, which was a seat of bishops until 1807. Romanesque cylindrical tower with a conical cusp, of the same era.

Inside the temple you can see the altarpiece, the “Pala d’oro”, which according to tradition was a gift from the Queen of Cyprus, Caterina Cornaro, a “Last Supper” credited to Gregorio Lazzarini and a peculiar “Pietà” in gilded wood.

The adjoining parish museum houses six panels by a Venetian Art School of the 14th Century depicting the apostles; a “Capitular Cross” dated 14th century, a reliquary with the skull of Saint Stephen, patron saint of Caorle, and a reliquary called “Of the most precious blood” (Reliquiario del preziosissimo sangue) that is said to contain some of the ground on which Jesus bled. There are also several other relics and sacred objects.

Each year Caorle holds an international sculpting event, called “Scogliera Viva” (“Live Cliff”). Sculptors from different countries come to decorate the rocks on the coastline walk with sculptures of great beauty that stay on view all year long.

For the last few years Caorle (with Bibione) has hosted the annual exhibition of the Mantegna Prize, which rewards the best sculptors and painters of the year, president of the jury is Vittorio Sgarbi.

The town offers sea-loving tourists over 250 hotel facilities, many rental homes, tourist villages and camping sites, a thousand mooring spaces in the two town docks, that can harbor big yachts, 18 kilometers of seaside (that was awarded the European Blue Flag for the quality of beaches several times) divided by a cliff into two beaches, East and West. South of Caorle are the tourist towns of Santa Margherita, Duna Verde and the newborn Lido Altanea.

In the north the Lagoon of Caorle is perfect for boat excursions through the unspoilt nature cherished by Ernest Hemingway, who wrote of it in his book “Across the river and into the trees”.

Among the banks you can find the “casoni” (literally big houses), typical fishermen’s huts that were used in the past.

Caorle is the only town on the Adriatic which has both beach resorts and a valuable old town center, with multicolored houses spread along “calli” and “campielli” (roads and squares); originally crossed by a network of man-made canals, now buried (the so-called “Rio terà”). It still resembles a little Venice. In the heart of the city lies the fishing dock, proof of the flourishing fishing industry and last remnant of the network of canals that once crossed the island.

The city is not empty in the winter. It still has opportunities for tourists, with resorts and rentals open all year long. In the town center Christmas markets are held and an ice rink is open from December to the beginning of February (a tradition successfully established over the past few years).

Ultimately, major sporting events have had Caorle as a background. Up to the 90s the International Athletics Meeting was held here, with athletes coming from all over the world and the Karate Club world championship have taken place in the town for the past couple of years.

Nautical sports are also important, with many sailing regattas, the most famous of which is the “500x2.

City of VENICE

The name “Venezia” (Venice) and its early variants Venédia, Venétia, Venésia, Venéxia, Vinegia indicated all the territories of the pre-roman venetian folks. Venetia, is the name used in the administrative Augustean documents of the 7 A.D. Along with Istria it was part of the tenth region, the X Regio. The name was also used under the Byzantines who called the coastal region from Chioggia to Gradac “Venetikà” or, in latin, Venetia maritime.

The name came to indicate the duchy of Venice, and only later its capital. The city came to being in a later era bringing together the settlements on the islands.

A peculiarity of the latin name is that it is a plural substantive, perhaps because the city was conceived as the union of several smaller island centers who joined together, or in any case a plurality of elements.

The old documents refer to the region in the singular, “Venetia” (Venetia et Histria, Venetia Maritima), while the city was referred to in the plural: Venetiarum Civitas, Venetiarum Res Publica, Venetiarum Patriarcha.

The territory of the city of Venice is split into six administrative municipalities, and is clearly divided into the lagoon area (the historical center and the islands) and the mainland.

total of 118 islands, thanks to wooden pilings, Some of these are collected disperse. The city center is that require the use of pedestrian zone.

The historical city, with its (excluding the waterways largest historical centers of extension of the insular city, lagoon, like Murano and The historical city is divided “sestieri”): Dorsoduro, Santa Croce, San Polo, San Marco, Cannaregio and Castello.

The historical center is located in the middle of the namesake lagoon, on a consolidated over the centuries which have allowed urbanization. in groups while others are more threaded by a maze of waterways bridges to cross, and it is a

into six districts or “sestiere” (plural

The “sestieri” are built around the double bend of the Grand Canal, the main waterway from which a dense network of minor canals extends. There are many urbanized islands in the lagoon but some are now deserted. The largest islands (part of the municipality themselves) are Murano, Burano – renowned respectively for glass work and lace-making – Torcello, Sant’Erasmus, Pellestrina and the long and narrow Lido with its beach resorts.

The monuments of the city of Venice are found almost entirely in the historical center and the islands of the lagoon, the mainland is almost devoid of places of interest. The most famous landmark in Venice is “Piazza San Marco”, the principal square and the only one that goes by the Italian name of “piazza” as all other urban spaces in the city are called “campi” (fields). St. Mark’s Basilica dominates the square. It is golden in color and covered with mosaics about the history of Venice, along with bas-reliefs depicting the months of the year.

Above the main entrance, stand the four bronze horses of Constantinople, taken to Venice following the 4th Crusade in 1204. The church has a Greek cross plan and five large domes. The present Basilica is the third church of St. Mark, and it stands in place of the previous two that were destroyed. This version was inspired by the Church of the Holy Apostles of Constantinople (destroyed by Muslims a few years after the conquest of 1453), of which it is a sort of scaled down replica. The interior is full of gilded mosaics that depict biblical events and allegories. Originally it was the chapel of the Doge of the Republic of Venice. Next to the Basilica is the Doge’s Palace. The two are joined by the “Porta della Carta” (Paper Gateway) that today is the exit of the Doge’s Palace Museum. Nowadays the main entrance is on the waterfront side, facing the lagoon. It was built in the 15th century with Istrian marble to be the seat of the government of the Serenissima. Before that there was a fortress that was set to fire to oust Peter IV Candiano, who had taken refuge inside during a riot.

To be seen are the Higher Council Hall (Sala del Maggior Consiglio), which for centuries was the biggest government hall in the world, the Bridge of Sighs (Ponte dei Sospiri) and the prisons, the “Piombi” (“Leads” in English).

Opposite to the Doge’s Palace stands the bell tower, Campanile di San Marco. Built in 1173 as a lighthouse, it was renovated by Bartolomeo Bon in the 15th century. On the 14th of July 1902 it fell to the ground and was completely rebuilt.

The Veronese red marble lodge (Loggetta) was built by Jacopo Sansovino. It has bas-reliefs depicting the feats of the Lion’s Republic.

Other important monuments in Venice are the Arsenal, the Basilica of Santa Maria della Salute, the Basilica of Santa Maria Gloriosa dei Frari and the synagogues of the Ghetto.

Venice is also renowned for its historical cafès. Coffee was imported from the Ottoman Empire around 1615, and from the year 1683 cafès started spreading throughout the city. The famous “Caffè Florian”, was opened on the 29 December 1720, in Piazza San Marco, under the arcades, and it is still open to this day. The equally illustrious “Caffè Quadri” was opened in 1775.

Venice also houses the precious Peggy Guggenheim collection. The museum exhibits masterpieces by renowned artists including: Ernst, Modigliani, Picasso, Miro, Pollock and Kandinsky.

The islands of Murano, Burano and Torcello are the most important tourist attractions of the lagoon. The Venice Lido is an enjoyable seaside resort, and home to the famous Venice Film Festival.
